Heated Towel Racks Help Luxury Hotel Achieve Sustainable Comfort and Style

Located in New York City at the corner of 77th Street and Madison Avenue, The Mark Hotel has old-world sophistication and New York flare in abundance. This beautiful 1927 landmark features interiors by French designer Jacques Grange, with furnishings by French painter Guy de Rougemont and American designer Vladimir Kagan.

The Mark is adding sustainability to comfort through the use of Amba Heated Towel Racks in all of its guest bathrooms. Heated towel racks add a stylish and functional accent to any bathroom and are extremely practical as they use much less energy than a standard clothing dryer.

"The Mark bathrooms are designed to create a truly relaxing experience to help the guest prepare for their day ahead and unwind in the evening," said Karolina Swierk, director of housekeeping at The Mark. "After a long day in New York City, guests enjoy having a warm towel to dry off with. The addition of the heated towel racks adds a touch of opulence to our bathrooms which guests thoroughly enjoy."
